Every Day Philosophy.

When weariness with life my spirit fills,
When deep disgust consumes me with my lot,
I dra some store of comfort from the ills I haven't got,

To find that fortune at your coming flies,
To be bankrupt in health, in fame, in purse
Is bad enough: but, I philosophize,
It might be worse.

Incessantly we make a great ado,
The mouth of misery is wide agape;
But happier we, I fancy, if we knew
What we escape.

The common woes of life are bad enough,
Misfortunes fall as easy as the dew,
And still for every morning's steak that's tough
There might be two.

This one is sick; his wayward fate cries out
Against the leech, the calomel, the bed;
O inconsiderate person cease to pout
You might be dead.

And this one hath the mitten; he has wooed:
Vainly, alack, his wooing it has sped.
Well—'tis in this there's comfort, rightly viewed—
He might be wed'

And here is one who whines; his all is swept
Away in panic; he has had to "fail."
He should, I think, be cheerful that's he kept
Safe out of jail.

But late I lost a twenty dollar bill
And did I wring my hands that I had blundered?
Not I indeed—I'm very thankful still
'Twas not a hundred.

Sooth, should I e'er capsize when walks are bad
And my good clavicle involve in wreck,
Serenely I should say—How very glad
It's not my neck.

O trust me—better not to make ado
At the few miseries of our common lot.
There's millions of them—if we only knew—
We haven't got.

Canned Salmon in England.

The Canadian Gazette of June 12th, contains a report of the meeting held by a number of gentlemen in London, Eng., the week previous. The chairman, Mr. H. C. Beeton, agent general for British Columbia, explained the reasons for calling the meeting. He said that at a meeting of the agents-general for the Colonies summoned last January Sir Phillip Cunliffe-O men suggested that something should be done towards popularizing Colonial preserved fish, fruit, etc. Bearing this in mind, he (the chairman) had availed himself of the first opportunity to redeem his promise of co-operating with Sir Phillip Cunliffe-Owen on behalf of British Columbia in that direction, and had recently re-opened the question with SirPhillip Cunliffe-Owen; likewise with Mrs. Clarke, superintendent of the National School of Cookory, South Kensington, who (he was sure they would be glad; to know) had offered her hearty co-operation and assistance in the matter of tinned salmon, and had made some suggestions for attracting public attention by including the article in her demonstrations at the lectures, which take place every day, except Sunday, at the Exhibition. She also suggested that the salmon could be served in two or three ways, and that members of the press should be present to taste the article. In this way the chairman hoped some good might be done to make a cheap, wholesome, and convenient article of food better known and appreciated, and further to get rid of ignorant prejudice which exists in the minds of certain people against the article. With regard to the alleged recent poisoning case at Wolverhampton, which most likely would be more or less prejudicial to their interests, he thought matters of this sort could be best dealt with by the newsection in connection with their trade about to be formed at the London Chamber of Commerce. One importer had sent him a reasuring letter, in which (after stating his inability to attend the meeting), he said, he took exception to his (the chairman's) suggestion that prejudice existed against salmon as an article of consumption, since the public had been using it for the last ten years or more, and if now and then a charge was made against salmon, it was never accompanied by proofs and he thought the article quite able to take care of itself. In conclusion, he (the chairman) should be glad to receive suggestions and advice from any gentleman present that would be useful in connection with the object of their meeting.

A discussion then took place, in which Messrs. Bell, Betts, Jones, and Brodie took part, the opinion being pretty unanimous that the alleged poisoning the other day at Wolverhampton, and the case of Lazenby's last year (the only two cases on record since tinned salmon has been an article of consumption), were not likely to injure the sale. Practical suggestions were made in reference to the opening and emptying the tins; for instance, that in future instructions should be printed on the labels, stating that the tin should be opened by a proper instrument under the rim, and that the whole of its contents should be at one emptied in to a dish.

The meeting finally resolved that Messrs. Beeton and Jones should arrange an interview with Mrs. Clarke to initiate the necessary details for making the article known, and popularising it by means of the School of Cookery, and report at a subsequent meeting.

"Papa, what do professional pedestrians walk for?" "For lucre, my son." "Oh, yes; were you one of the lookers, papa?" "Oh, no; I mean they walk for money." "Isn't a man's walk called his gait?" "Yes, I believe so." "That's why they call it gait money, isn't it?" Papa maintained a dignified silence, while the small boy watched the cat make a hundred laps in a minute from the pitcher of milk on the breakfast table.

The King of Grain Harvesters.

In the year 1883 there were 18,000 Deering Twine Binders sold, and for the present year of 1884 the manufacturers are making 25,000 of these celebrated machines. This is no baby binder, but cut a swath 6 feet 4 inches in width without the inside horse walking in the standing grain. The new Knotter for this year is the success of the age. These machines are simple, light and strong, and easier on a team than any other machine made. Sole agent for B. C., E. C. Prior, Victoria, B. C.

STEINWAY & SONS' PIANOS.

LETTER FROM DR. FRANZ LISZT, THE GREATEST LIVING TONE-MASTER.

WEIMAR, November, 1883.

MR. STEINWAY:

MOST ESTEEMED SIR:—Again I owe you many and special thanks. The new Steinway Grand is a glorious masterpiece in power, sonority, singing quality and perfect harmonic effects, affording delight even to my old piano-weary fingers. Ever continuing success remains a beautiful attribute of the world-renowned firm of Steinway & Sons.

In your letter, highly esteemed sir, you mention some new features in the Grand Piano, viz.: The vibrating body being bent into form out of one continuous piece, and that portion of the strings heretofore lying dormant, being now a part of and thus incorporated as partial tones into the foundation tones. Their utility is emphatically guaranteed by the name of the inventor.

Owing to my ignorance of the mechanism of piano construction, I can but praise the magnificent result in the "volume and quality of sound."

In relation to the use of your welcome tone-sustaining pedal, I inclose two examples: "Danse des Sylphes," by Berlioz, and No. 3 of my "Consolations."

I have to-day noted down only the introductory bars of both pieces, with this proviso, that, if you desire it, I shall gladly complete the whole transcription, with exact adaptation of your tone-sustaining pedal. Very respectfully and gratefully,

F. LISZT.

THE COLONIES.

The "Colonies and India," in a recent article, has some very pertinent remarks on colonial relations generally, from which we make the following extracts:

"The question 'What shall we do with our Colonies?' seems not unlikely to develop into one of 'What our Colonies will do with us?' A policy of injudicious interference in the internal affairs of our colonies has gradually been abandoned for one of equally injudicious neglect of their reasonable claims upon our attention; and the result in the latter case is likely to be quite as disastrous as the result in the former. The colonies are too self-reliant to be wilfully trifled with, and although their declared policy is to act in all things in harmony with England, the present tendency of our policy is to force them to fall back upon their self-reliance in sheer disgust at our want of sympathy, and to enjoy it solely for their own advantage, without regard to the question whether we are affected injuriously or otherwise. The close friendship of our colonies should be one of the first objects of British policy. The maintenance of a closer alliance with them would be of more advantage to us than any treaty of friendship with any foreign power. Such an alliance would be sealed and signed with flesh and blood, and would, if once fully entered into, never be subject to the strains which have proved too strong for many a parchment treaty of temporary expediency. To such an alliance India must be admitted a party, as well as the colonies; but such a treaty would be of no advantage to any of the signatories if action were to cease with its ratification.

Though the fashion of depreciating the value of the colonies is fortunately dying out, there still remains a lingering doubt as to the real value of a close alliance with the colonies. If the colonies have not numbers they have the potentiality of vast development, and they have wealth and energy far out of proportion to their size; and it was English energy, and not English numbers, that made the empire what it is: it was energy and enterprise, not numbers, that discovered and peopled all the colonies; it was energy and enterprise, not numbers, that conquered India: and the moment that energy and enterprise seem on the wane, numbers from elsewhere will at once proceed to demolish the structure, the erection of which they have hitherto been unable to prevent.

The measured and self-reliant message which the acting-governor of Victoria, Australia, addressed to the parliament of that colony is an index to the spirit which animates the colonies. Speaking of the French plan of swamping the neighboring islands with the outpourings of French prisons, the representative of the Queen is reported to have said that it the protests of the intercolonial convention, the diplomatic action of the imperial government, and the exertions of the colonies proved ineffectual to prevent the projected deportation of recidivistes to the French possessions in the Western Pacific, the Victorian ministry 'would be prepared to adopt such measures as might be necessary.' This is no mere bombastic utterance, but the expression of the deliberate determination of a community which, dependent in the first instance on the might and influence of England, is prepared to rely on its own resources if that might and that influence fail to secure attention to its just demands. Exactly the same spirit breathes through the intelligence which reaches us from South Africa apropos of the projected annexation of Angra Pexuena by Germany, and of the rumored intention to follow there the example of France in the South Seas, and establish a penal settlement. The last news from the Cape reiterates what we had heard before, that the colonial government has declared itself opposed to the occupation by any foreign power of any port between the colony and the Portuguese possessions on the west coast, and especially to the establishment of a German penal settlement; and it is added that the premier has made the announcement that the policy of the new administration is entirely opposed to any cession of colonial territory, considering that it is now time that the colony should assume the control of native affairs without interference from the imperial government."

Instances of a like spirit of "self-reliance" are not wanting nearer home among the Canadian provinces, Manitoba for instance, and the same spirit is not entirely dormant even in British Columbia.

Eastern Canada Mail.

(Per Northern Pacific Railway.)

TORONTO, June 24.—The closing price of Canadian Pacific Railway stock for the last four days has been 44, 42¾, 45¼, and 42½. Number of stock sold to-day, 3,400.

MONTREAL, June 25.—Mr. Geo. Stephen, Mr. R. B. Angus, Mr. Duncan McIntyre, and the Hon. A. Smith, on behalf of the Canadian Pacific Company, to-day filed an opposition to the sale of the principal section of the Montreal, Portland & Boston Railway, at the instance of the Hochelaga Bank, advertised by the sheriff to take place at Chambly to-morrow. The opposition was issued, and an order made by Hon. Justice Johnson restraining the sale. The opposition alleges that the petitioners have paid nothing on the one hundred first mortgage bonds of the road with accrued interest held by them since January 2, 1883; that the road, if sold as per advertisement, will be dismembered, inasmuch as only a portion of it is under seizure, and the portions unsold would be rendered valueless, and the security of the bondholders made worthless. The opposition is with a view of having the road in its entirety sold at a future date.

CUSTOMS SEIZURE.

The customs officers here have seized a shipment of goods consigned to the Montreal agent of Curtis & Brown, patent medicine vendors of Boston, for undervaluation. The consignment was entered at about $700, while the appraiser estimates the value of the goods at about $1,000.

MONTREAL, June 24.—The failure of C. J. Kershaw & Co. in Chicago has had a most depressing effect upon our market here, and it is feared that many losses will be made in Canada by the suspension. Some Canadian banks are involved, the Bank of Montreal alone being interested to the extent of $400,000. The general manager states that the failure has been anticipated for the last six months; that apparently it is the result of speculation in grain and lumber, and is entirely apart from the legitimate commission business of the firm, which realized over $10,000 a month in itself. The bank is to a certain extent secured, but it is feared a considerable loss will be sustained.

The death of Mr. Miller is reported here from tuberculosis, although some medical experts were of the opinion that the disease could not be communicated to human beings.

BELLEVILLE, June 25.—A stabbing affray, which is almost certain to result fatally, occurred at about 8 30 yesterday evening on the premises of Michael Kennedy, fourth concession of Tyendinaga, about sixteen miles from this city. There had been a logging bee during the day, and two men named John McAulay and James Alexander engaged in a fight, in which the former bit one of the latter's fingers. Joseph Morden, one of the bystanders, upraided McAulay for his mode of fighting, and in response to a challenge engaged in a conflict with McAulay, who drew a knife and stabbed him sixteen times in the face, shoulders and upper part of the body. One of the wounds is in the left lung. Medical men were summoned from Desoronto, who gave it as their opinion that the victim could not survive. McAulay made his escape, and up to latest accounts had not been captured.

HALIFAX, June 25.—The nomination of candidates to fill the vacancy in the house of commons, for Cape Breton county, caused by the appointment of Mr. McDonald to the senate, takes place to-morrow, and the election is fixed for the 3d of July. H. E. McDougall, conservative, ex-M. P. P., is to be opposed by J. H. Hearn. The nomination for the seat for Cumberland in the commons, created by the resignation of Sir Charles Tupper, takes place to-morrow.

BELLEVILLE, June 25.—During a row at Tyendenaga yesterday John McAulay stabbed Joseph Morden seven times in the face and once through the lungs. He will probably die. McAulay escaped.

Sir Bartle Frere.

A public meeting was lately held in London to consider the proposal to raise a monument to Sir Bartle Frere. The Duke of Cambridge, who presided, observed:

"The fact of his presence went to show that this was in no way connected with politics, but that they were assembled merely to do justice to a respected friend and great Englishman, and not to a politician of one school or another. There were upon the platform men of all parties and of high position in the state, and that showed that the movement was essentially non-political. He was sure that this sentiment was fully appreciated by all present. From his entrance into public life Sir Bartle Frere had exhibited an ability and determination which he continued to evince throughout his career and up to the last moments of his life. His amiability in social life, his views on English politics, his ability as a writer and speaker, were well known to all; but it was as an administrator that he made his mark. His administration of the government of Bombay, and the part he took in the suppression of the mutiny of the Bengal army, did much to consolidate the power of Great Britain in India; and although there was some difference of opinion respecting his management of the affairs of the Cape, yet he believed everyone would admit that he accomplished a great deal of good His most bitter opponents were ready to admit that throughout his career Sir Bartle Frere had always striven to do his duty."

The Army and the Government.

The wear and tear of clothing during the recent operations in the Soudan must have put officers and men to considerable expense. We therefore congratulate the troops concerned on the issue of a war office circular authorising the grant of a gratuity to them. It certainly does not err in the direction of excessive liberality, seeing that privates are only to receive a single share of £2, and a lieutenant seven and a half shares, while Sir Gerald Graham himself will only obtain £352, as against the £25,000 awarded to Lord Wolseley for the Ashantee campaign. Half a loaf is better than no bread, but the grant will do little to allay the discontent in General Graham's force at the slight caused by the thanks of parliament being withheld on the most absurd and disingenuous plea. This discontent has taken the very practical form of a large number of men belonging to the regiments thus ignored having quitted the service either by purchase or on expiration of their period of engagement.

(In Chambers).

McKillican & Anderson vs. Revely—Mr. C. Wilson (Davie & Wilson) on behalf of the plaintiffs made an application for an order to refer all matters in dispute in this action to arbitration

Mr. S. P. Mills (Fell & Mills) on behalf of the defendant opposed the application, contending that there could be no compulsory arbitration in the present action.

His lordship refused the order.

A further application was made by the plaintiff for an order for particulars of the defects in the work done upon which the defendant relied in his defense.

His lordship made an order directing the defendant to deliver particulars of the defects in the work, but without prejudice to the defendant to give notice of any other defects discovered before plaintiff's case is closed at the trial.

County Court.

(Before Sir M. B. Begbie, C. J.)

The following case was inadvertently omitted in the report of the proceedings of the county court on Thursday:

Joseph Bros. vs. Miller. This was an action to recover $270, alleged to be due for fifteen months' use and occupation of the lot on the corner of Government and Pandora streets. The defendant contended: First, That action for use and occupation would not lie as he held under lease. Secondly, That a tender of $187.50 was made for rent in full to 1st May before action was brought. After hearing evidence as to the value of property, his lordship adjourned the argument as to the right to bring the action for use and occupation till Monday next.

Mr. Drake, E. C., for Joseph Bros., Mr. Everts for Miller.

Picnic at "Shoplands."

Yesterday afternoon the young men gave a pic-nic to the ladies of the W. C. T. U., at "Shoplands," in return for the one given them by the ladies on the 24th. About two hundred were present, and a most enjoyable time was spent by all, the usual games being indulged in, and the refreshments for the occasion being provided by young men, who attended to everything in connection with the preparing of the table and the after cleaning up, which the ladies thoroughly enjoyed, as it was "turning the tables" for once. Thanks were returned to the proprietor of the Snowflake baking powder, who sent a large quantity of biscuit made with the powder he represents, also to the young men for their kindness. The party were taken to and from the ground in large busses.

Several cases of drunkenness were disposed of with the usual fines.

Teachers' Examination.

The examination of candidates for teachers' certificates of qualification begins to-day, at 1 o'clock, in the legislative hall, James Bay, and will be continued during the following ten or twelve days. Between 75 and 80 applicants will be in attendance, this number exceeding by far that of any previous year.

Marine.

The steamship Ancon, from San Francisco is due to-day.

THE COTTON COMPANY.—"True Devotion" was again presented at the Philharmonic in a very acceptable way. Little Idaline Cotton again charmed the audience with her songs and recitations, and Mr. Colton was as happy as ever as "Bob." There will be a matinee to-morrow afternoon, when the same piece will be given, and in the evening "Iram, the Waif." Seats at M. W. Waitt & Co's.

COMIC OPERA.—We understand that it is the intention of Mr. Kinross to arrange for the bringing of a number of artists here to produce some of the best comic operas. "Mascot," "Olivette," "Chimes of Normandy" and "Pinafore" are among the repertoire. As Victorians have not had the pleasure of listening to any comic opera for a long period, and as it is the intention to bring a superior company, we have no doubt the venture will be a successful one.

MUSICAL.—We believe that Mr. Kinross, who is so favorably known here, and who is at present a popular musical man of Portland, intends, so soon as he can make arrangements, to take up his permanent residence in Victoria.

FESTIVAL.—There will be a strawberry festival in the Reformed church schoolroom on Monday evening, when a very pleasant time is anticipated. Strawberries and cream will be provided, and an entertainment consisting of songs and fairy tableaux.

INQUEST.—At the adjourned inquest on the colliery disaster at Wellington, we understand that Mr. Irving will attend on behalf of the government, and Mr. Pooley will be retained for R. Dunsmuir & Son.

Cricket.

A game of cricket will be played at Beacon Hill this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Members should bear in mind that these practices are with the object of preparing a team to meet a Portland eleven sometime this season, with something like a chance of keeping up John Bull's reputation of knowing how to play his own favorite game.

THE MINES.—A telegram was received from Nanaimo last night stating that everything was all right at the Wellington mines, and the probability is that the shaft in which the explosion took place is again being worked. It is most remarkable that so many should have been killed by the accident, and yet the machinery and timbers in the mine escape with trifling injury.

THE POST OFFICE.—Yesterday not being a Dominion holiday Postmaster Wallace good naturedly attended to the delivery that the clerks might enjoy the afternoon.

The Old Reliable Music House.

We have been furnishing the people of the Island and mainland with musical instruments ever since 1863, and are now better prepared to supply the demand than ever. We have now on hand an assortment as follows: Pianos from $100 upwards; (first-class American pianos from $100 to $350, cheaper than the "much advertised pianos"). Organs from $40 upwards. Violins in great variety. Nickle plated band and solo instruments a specialty. A complete assortment of accordeons, harmonicas, etc. Large stock of book and sheet music. BAGNALL & Co.

GATHERING OF THE CLANS.

TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL GAMES OF THE CALEDONIAN SOCIETY.

Over 3,000 People Present.

As usual unqualified success attended the annual gathering of the St. Andrews and Caledonian society held yesterday. The plot known as the "Caledonian pic-nic grounds" is beyond doubt one of the most inviting of all the beautiful spots to be found in and around this city. In all probability yesterday's entertainment will be the last to be held on these grounds, as they have been disposed of to private parties who have surveyed the site into city lots. Nothing could be more inviting or pleasing to the eye than the excellent taste displayed in the decorations. Everywhere flags, bannerets and festoons were floating in the gentle breeze that prevailed during the afternoon and evening. The dancing pavilion was equally tastely decorated with Chinese and other lanterns. The attendance was very large, possibly the most numerous of any yet held. All appeared to enjoy themselves, and the management have every reason to feel gratified at the success which attended their efforts. It is to be regretted that so few of the "sons of the heather" appeared in the garb of the Gael, considering that the occasion was an especial Scottish one. Mr. Donald McKay looked remarkably well in his complete outfit. Many young boys appeared to advantage in their full dress. There were the Masters Ross, Winnipeg, Creche, McKay and others of this city. The games consisted of the usual athletic sports. Each was contested keenly, and the record made by many of the contestants is indeed highly creditable. Of all the amusing contests the tug of war carried the palm. The civilians won the first two pulls and the struggle then ended.

In the evening a great throng assembled in the marquee, fully sustaining the enviable reputation the Caledonian picnic gathering now enjoys. The beauty and fashion of the city and surrounding country were there.

Piper Carmichael, as usual, displayed his ability to advantage on his pipes during the afternoon, while the Independent band discoursed enlivening music at intervals. In the evening Francis' quadrille band supplied the dance music. Nothing could be more successful than the last gathering, everything having passed off without a solitary hitch or jar. Our Scotch citizens therefore have reason to feel proud of their annual gathering.

Among others of our prominent citizens on the ground we noticed Premier Smithe, R. Dunsmuir, M. P. P., N. Shakespeare, M. P., Capt. Doughty, R. N., R. P. Rithet, Esq., Hon. Robert Beaven, A. W. Ross, M. P., Winnipeg, E. C. Baker, M. P., Roderick Finlayson, Esq. The lieutenant-governor was represented by his secretary, Mr. Tatlow, he having gone up the coast on a fishing excursion.

The following are the several committees having the direction of the day's festivities on hand:

Committee of Management—Messrs. Alexander Allan, President; John Orr, A. Grieve, vice presidents; Councillor Boyd, Jas. Crawford, Thos. Russell, Wm. Lorimer, John Ross, John Stewart, Geo. Bishop, J. L. Anderson, J. C. Flett, Geo. Mann and R. Mitchell.

Judges of Games—Messrs. John Russell, R. E. Jackson, Jas. Burns, Alex. McLean, J. Hutcheson, H. E. Roebuck, John Grant, M. P. P., W. F. Tolmie, Jas. Crawford and James Muirhead.

Reception Committee—Thos. Russell, Councillor Boyd, R. P. Rithet, Jno. Ross, A. B. Gray, J. H. Lawson, J. L. Anderson, Jno. Finlayson, Dr. Milne and Jno. Orr.

Starter—Mr. Wm. Lorimer.

The first to be contested on the programme was the running high jump, for which there were four entries, Carlow, Coombs, Rees and Padder. Carlow 1st, 4 ft. 8 in., $4; Coombs 2nd, 4 ft. 7 in, $2.

Running long jump, for which there were four entries—W. Spotts, C. A. Carlow, Geo. Gilbert and John Grimm. This was won by Grimm, with 15 ft., 10 in., $4. Spotts 2nd, 15 ft., 2 in., $2.

Running hop, step and jump, 5 entries; prizes $3 and $1.50—J. Munger won with 37 ft., 6 in.; 2nd, H. Spotts, 36 ft., 8 in.

Next came the 3-mile race, for which there were 4 entries—T. Watson, A. Elliott, C. Smith and E. Hartley. Watson led with Elliott, Smith and Hartley following in order, which positions they retained at first half mile. The course was 14 laps to the mile; and at the 11th lap, Hartley spurted and led. At end of first mile Hartly led, with Watson, Elliott and Smith following. At the end of second mile Elliott was leading. At the fifth lap in last mile, Watson spurted and gained the lead amidst loud cheering. At 3 4th lap Watson was leading, Hartley dropped out, and Smith and Elliott were a close second and third. In the last lap Watson won by three-quarters of a lap, and Elliott and Smith came in a dead heat. First prize, $15; 2nd, divided, $7.50. Watson won the same race last year.

The next race was a handicap for boys under 15 years, for which there were about 25 entries. This was run in three batches, and the first two in each run for the prizes. Won by J. R. Starke, $2; and John Madden, $1.50.

Then followed the girls race of the same description, and run in the same way. Won by Millie Wallenstein and Lottie Lawson.

Next in order was the 100 yards dash with prizes of $4 and $2, for which there were eight entries, R. Robinson came in first, with E. Irving, 2nd.

The boys' race, handicap, under 10 years, then came off, and after many falls and scrambles, Willie Cathcart got in first, with Jas. Gibbon second.

For the half mile race there were nine entries, with prizes of $7 and $5. After a hotly contested and exciting race, H. Creech came in first, with J. Rees, a blue jacket, a fair 2nd.

A half mile walk brought out three contestants, one of which excited much merriment by the peculiar working of his limbs, which seemed to be twisted out of shape. He came in last. J. Farran walked a good heel-and-toe, and came in first, with Chas. Tite 2nd.

The girls' race, under 10, was next in order, and the little girls put forth every effort. Ada Worth came in first, with Edith King second.

The hurdle race, 300 yards, was well contested by Carlow, Irvine, Randolph, Gilbert and Minger. For the first two laps all leaped the hurdles easily. Carlow came in first, $5; Irvine 2nd, $2.50.

The three-legged race secured four entries and resulted in a dead heat between H. Creech and D. Pottinger, and Carlow and Trainer.

For throwing the heavy hammer there were about a dozen entries, with prizes of $5 and $2.50. The McKenzie clan were to the front with R. McKenzie 1st, he throwing it 68 feet; J. L. McKenzie, 2nd, 62 ft., 10 in., beating all others considerably.

Mr. R. McKenzie gave an exhibition throw with the hammer, turning completely round and sending it the extraordinary distance of 73 ft., 4 in. This style of throwing was ruled out.

Putting the heavy shot was taken part in by eight, and won by R. McKenzie, he throwing it 23 ft., 4 in.; C. Clushman was 2nd with 20 ft., 6 in.

Next on the programme was the 1-mile navy race, for which three blue-jackets entered. This was an exciting race, and the contestants were cheered heartily by their friends. A. Clark led off, but soon changed places with J. Allwood. This was continued until the 11th lap, when J. Rees went ahead and won the race easily; Allwood 2nd. Prizes $7.50 and $5.

For the sack race there were seven entries, each sack being named. The race was 100 yards, with prizes of $4 and $2. There were many tumbles and rolls among the racers, but J. Trainer, as "Sleepy Dan," by jumping from one end of the course to the other, came in first; R. Puketh, dubbed "Muggins," second.

Tossing the cabor was next attempted, but as a small-sized saw-log was carried in by two men for the purpose, no one man could even keep it upright, let alone toss it from the shoulder and completely overturn it. Five feet were sawed off, and, after many failures, Tinsen overturned it, winning the prize of $5.

Then came the "tug of war" between a team from the navy and one of civilians. The navy put in the field H. Stow, W. Adams, T. Pinnock, A. Smith, W. Smith, J. Chick, F. Lamble, W. Andrews, T. Colwell and A. Johnson. The civilian team was composed of Messrs. Cadman, J. L. Makenzie, Tinsen, Kennedy, Cotsford, Clushman, Shields, Morris, Jacobson and Ford. With a long pull and a strong pull, the civilians in a couple of minutes had gained the first. Ends were changed, and after a hard tug the civilians were again victorious, much to the disappointment of the blue jackets. The prize was $10.

DANCING.

Highland Fling—3 entries—1st, Donald McKay.

Sailor's Hornpipe—5 entries—1st, Fred McLaren. 2d, F. Milne.

Sword Dance—4 entries—1st, Captain Urquhart.

Reel O'Tulloch—4 entries—1st, Mr. McLagan.

Best dressed boy in Highland costume, $5 4 entries 1st, Master Walter Creeche.

In this competition Mr. Donald McKay took the little Highlanders in hand, and notwithstanding the "skirl" of Mr. Carmichaels chanter, put music into their very heels, to the great delight of the spectators, who lastly cheered the little clansmen.

As each lady passed through the gate to the grounds she was handed a numbered ticket, and in the evening a prize drawing took place. The following are the winning numbers:—555, first prize of lady's diamond ring; 521, set of brooch and earrings; 407, handsome baby carriage; 1095, lady's companion; 1078, lady's hairdressing case; 181, brocaded parasol; 558, lady's handbag.

At night the grounds were lit up with a multitude of Chinese lanterns, the pavilion for dancing being decorated with flags, and the different tints from the many colored lights, the sound of music, and the rush of the hundreds of dancers as they treaded the maze of the waltz with their handsome dresses, was a pleasing, fascinating sight.

Outside a large bonfire was started in the centre of the ring used for the games, and rockets and fireworks were sent whizzing through the air, lighting up the grounds in all sorts of fantastic shapes.

Dancing was kept up until a late hour in the morning, when the last of the pleasure seekers wended their way home, thus terminating one of the most successful Scotch gatherings ever held in Victoria. It is calculated that over three thousand people visited the gathering during the day and evening, so that the sum which will go into the society's exchequer will be a handsome one.

Commercial Geographical Society.

It is proposed to establish in the City of London a Commercial Society of Geography, of which the following are the principal objects: 1st. To collect from all portions of the globe information of a geographical character which may have a bearing on commerce. 2d. To establish a library of reference and a map room easily accessible to city men during business hours. 3d. To form by degrees a museum of raw and manufactured products so arranged as to give information as to where they are produced, manufactured, and sold, and in what quantities; also the manner in which the raw products are brought into the hands of the manufacturer, and how they are again distributed to the consumer. 4th. To discover and aid in opening new markets for British goods and sources of supply of raw materials. 5th. To discuss and consider ancient and modern commercial routes. 6th. To discuss and disseminate information on commercial hygiene, law, etc. 7th. To examine and discuss engineering undertakings of such magnitude and importance as to affect national interests, or have considerable influence on the course of trade. 8th. To collect and formulate information about all ports in all parts of the world, and the condition of the various hydrographical surveys. 9th. To discuss, with regard to their influence, immediate and prospective, on commerce, all treaties or other acts tending to the concession, acquisition or settlement of new territories, or the alteration of existing boundaries. 10th. To support, as far as possible and proper, all commercial geographical explorations. 11th. To establish rewards and prizes for services rendered to the society. 12th. To publish, monthly or otherwise, a journal containing the proceedings of the society, and giving information on any of the above mentioned subjects. Commander Lovett Cameron considers that the present Royal Geographical Society, with its admirable organization, library and map-room, does not cover the ground proposed above, and that its rooms are too far removed from the busiest portion of London to be available during the hours at which they are open. He therefore proposes the establishment of the British Commercial Geographical Society, and is open to receive any suggestions regarding the same.—Colonies and India.

DELAYED DISPATCHES

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Three separate and distinct shocks of earthquake occurred in this city to-day, the first at 12:20, the second at 12:35, and the third a few minutes after. The second was the most severe experienced here for several years, and caused the stanchest buildings to totter, people running from them in great fright. Its approach was heralded by a heavy rumbling sound. The weather is warm and sultry.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—The mixed wrestling match Graeco-Roman and catch-as-catch-can, between Clarence Whistler and Tom Cannon, took place this evening at the Grand Opera house. The first bout, catch-as-catch-can, was won by Cannon, in 46 minutes and 30 seconds. The second and third bouts, Graeco-Roman, were won by Whistler, in 23 minutes and 37 seconds, and 22 seconds, respectively.

A road to connect with their road from Marysville to Orville and carry it through to the state line of California and Oregon, is contemplated by Messrs. Nicholas Luning, of this city, and N. D. Rideout, of Sacramento. Mr. Luning is owner of a large tract of land in Oregon, near the state line, and has an idea that the building of this road is to increase the value of this land, and make it easier of access.

OREGON.

PENDLETON, July 2.—Henry Barnhart and Frank Anderson, on trial for killing an Indian on the reservation, were acquitted to-day. As soon as released they were again arrested by Deputy U. S. Marshal Charles W. Frush, who leaves for Portland on to-night's train, in charge of the young prisoners. When the prisoners were pronounced innocent the court room was packed, and three cheers and many hats went up from the enthusiastic crowd. Judge Balleray promptly fined two of the crowd $20 each for contempt of court, and the fines were as promptly paid by the friends of the prisoners.

EGYPT.

ASSINAM, July 3. It is rumored that 1,000 Arabs attacked and captured Debbieh by assault. It is said that thirty-five of the garrison and inhabitants were killed. The governor of Dongola and a number of officers have gone in the direction of Debbieh, with what object is not known.

IRELAND.

BELFAST, July 3.—The Presbyterian council continued in session to-day. Resolutions adopted by the Belfast Presbyterian and the Irish general council alliance of the reformed church of Belfast, expressed sincere pleasure at seeing so many of the venerable fathers and brethren from other lands, and rejoice in the harmony which had marked the entire proceedings of the council. Doctor Hayes, of Colorado, responded to the resolutions in appropriate terms. A discussion was then had on the danger to Protestantism in the revival of ritualism. At the evening session Rev. Mr. Young, of Alleghany, presided.

SPAIN.

LISBON, July 2.—In election riots on Cape Verde islands several persons were killed and wounded. The military restored order. The government candidates were triumphant.

EASTERN STATES.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Failures for the six months ending July 1, 1884, are reported by R. G. Dunn & Co., to the number of 5,510, compared with 4,637 the first six months of 1883. Liabilities foot up to the enormous sum of $124,000,000, compared with $66,000,000 for the same period of last year, or nearly double as great. The growth of liabilities is directly traceable by the agency to the recent panic, which mainly centered in New York city. The agency claims the legitimate business of the country suffers no serious result from these failures; that the condition of preparedness for a panic had been reached and that the balance of the year may witness a fairly profitable demand for merchandise, with results more satisfactory than for the first six months.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Nine cases of sunstroke to-day in this city; none fatal.

Gordon in the Desert.

Frederick Bohndorff, the last man who left Khartoum before it was beleaguered, writes in the London Telegraph: "Leaving Berber at the end of January with my guide and my servant, we struck into desert. There is no track, and you commit courself to your guide. On the afternoon of my fourth day's march, I saw a great cloud of dust far away on the horizon, and presently a cavalcade came riding toward me at an extraordinary pace in contrast to my wearied march. The leader was in advance, and I noticed his eager maner and his compact figure clad in a blue military frock coat, red trousers, and a fez. "Bohndorff," said Gen. Gordon—for it was he—"we all at Cairo thought you were dead. I have often prayed to God to protect you and Dr. Junker and preserve you alive." I dismounted, went to the side of his camel and he shook hands warmly. I was overwhelmed with astonishment, for they knew nothing at Khartoum or Berber of Gordon's coming, but immediately I saw him I divined his mission. I only needed to see him to know why he was there. "Why have you left Khartoum?" said Gordon, hurriedly. "I am very glad to be going there. Why is everybody leaving? Are you afraid?" "Not exactly afraid, but I have finished my collection, and am returning." "Well, how goes it there?" "Everything in a terrible muddle, no one knowing who is faithful to the Government, and who is not." "But are the people at Khartoum afraid?" "Excellency, there is plenty to be afraid of." "Tell me, now—is the Mahdi as strong as people say?" and all through he exhibited in his voice and manner the most cheerful and buoyant confidence. "The Mahdi, excellency, is much stronger than you have any idea of." "Ah, ah! I shall manage him." "I pray the good God to assist you." "Are you coming back?" "I hope so, but not now. Would you like me to come soon?" "If not soon you won't find me. I shall not be here more than five months. Now," said he, pressing my hand, "do you want anything?" "Nothing." He repeated the question several times with the kindest emphasis, and then presented me to Colonel Stewart and Ibrahim Pasha, who rode behind him, wearing gray tourist suits. Gen. Gordon thereupon hastily bade me adieu, and then the party, numbering about ten persons, started off again at the tremendous pace equalling that at which I saw them approach some fifteen or twenty minutes before. Each member of the party carried a small water sack, some provisions, and a sleeping carpet.

THE ÆSTHETIC WEDDING.

Oscar Wilde and His Bride at the Altar.

Mr. Oscar Wilde, younger son of the late Sir William R. W. Wilde, and Miss Constance Lloyd, daughter of the late Mr. Horatio Lloyd, Q. C., were married by special license at St. James' church, Paddington, on the afternoon of the 29th ult. A large congregation had assembled at the church by half-past two o'clock, the hour fixed for the marriage. The admittance was by ticket, the dangerous illness of the bride's grandfather necessitating a quiet wedding. The muster in the church was not distinguished by the presence of any social, artistic or literary celebrities, invitations to the bride's home in Lancaster gate, being strictly confined to near relations. Punctually at half-past two Mr. Oscar Wilde was seen standing at the altar, a rose in his button-hole, a touch of pink in his neck-tie. He was attended by Mr. William Wilde as best man; Lady Wilde also stood near her son. She wore a handsome costume of silver-grey brocaded silk and satin; on the bodice was fastened a large spray of roses and pink carnations; grey and pink feathers trimmed her hat. Some ten minutes later leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Lloyd, and followed by her six bridesmaids, walked down the chancel. Her rich creamy satin dress was of a delicate cowslip tint; the bodice, cut square and somewhat low in front, was finished with a high Medici collar; the ample sleeves were puffed; the skirt, made plain was gathered by a silver girdle of beautiful workmanship, the gift of Mr. Oscar Wilde; the veil of saffron-colored Indian silk gauze was embroidered with pearls, and were in Marie Stuart fashion; a thick wreath of myrtle leaves, through which gleamed a few white blossoms, crowned her fair frizzled hair; the dress was ornamented with clusters of myrtle leaves; the largest bouquet had as much green in it as white. The six bridesmaids were cousins of the bride. Two dainty little figures, that seemed to have stepped out of a picture by Sir Joshua Reynolds, led the way. They were dressed in quaintly made gowns of red surah silk, the color of a ripe gooseberry; large pale yellow sashes round the waist; the skirts falling in straight folds to the ankles, displayed small bronze high-heeled shoes; large red silk Gainsborough hats, decked with red and yellow feathers, shaded the damsels' golden hair; amber necklaces, long yellow gloves, a cluster of yellow roses at the throat, a bouquet of white lilies in their hands, completed the attire of the tiny bridesmaids. The four elder bridesmaids wore skirts of the same dim red surah silk, with over-dresses of pale blue flowered mousseline de laine, the bodies made long and pointed; high-crowned hats, trimmed with cream-colored feathers and red knots of ribbon, lilies in their hands, amber necklaces, and yellow roses at their throats, made up.

THE BRIDE,

A SUFFICIENTLY PICTURESQUE ENSEMBLE

The mother of the bride wore a dress of rich grey satin, a black lace mantle, and black bonnet, trimmed with amber aigrette and feather. A very æsthetic costume was composed of an underdress of rich red silk, with a sleeveless smock of red plush; a hat of white lace, trimmed with clusters of red roses under the brim and round the crown. Mrs. Bernard-Beere wore a dress covered with jet, a long mantle of stamped velvet, and black hat, trimmed with red flowers. Mrs. Geo. Lewis wore a becoming costume of black and amber.

At half-past four Mr. and Mrs Oscar Wilde were at the Charing-cross station, en route for Paris. The bride's traveling dress was of deep crimson and silk; a crimson velvet hat and feathers. The wedding cake was covered with sprays of stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

Cultured Maidens and the Vase.

From the madding crow they stand apart,
The maidens four and the work of art.

And none might tell from sight alone
In which had culture most grown—

The Gotham Mill on fair to see,
The Philadelphia Pedigree,

The Boston Mind of azure hue,
Or the soulful Soul from Kalamazoo—

For all loved Art in a seemly way,
With an ex nest soul and a capital A

. . . . . .

Long they worshipped but no one broke
The sacred stillness, until up spoke

The Western one from the nameless place,
Who, blushing said: "What a lovely vase."

Over three faces a sad smile flow,
And they edged away from Kalamazoo.

But Gotham's haughty soul was stirred
To calm the stranger with one small word.

Deftly hiding reproof in praise,
She cries, "'Tis indeed a lovely vaze!"

But brief her unworthy triumph when
The lofty one from the house of Penn,

With the consciousness of two grandpapas,
Exclaimes, "It is quite a lovely vahs!"

And glances round with an anxious thrill,
Awaiting the word of Beacon Hill,

But the Boston maid smiles courteouslee
And gently murmurs, "O, pardon me!

"I did not catch your remark, because I was entranced with that charming vaws!"

Truth's crusade against Bishop, the American mind reader, has resulted in a libel suit against Labouchere. The principal charge on which Bishop bases his case is that Truth asserted that he was a common swindler, and had robbed Victoria hospital of £300, the proceeds of one of his entertainments, which was ostensibly given for the benefit of that institution. Charles Russell, Q. C., M. P. for Dundalk, has received a brief from Mr. Bishop's solicitors, and nearly all the leading attorneys of London have been engaged, on one side or the other. Many members of the aristocracy, who have a thorough hatred of Labouchere and his redicalism and iconoclasm, are assisting Bishop with money and advice.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

There was an interesting debate in the Lords, where Lord Rosebery moved for a select committee to consider the best means of promoting the efficiency of that House, and supported this motion in an elaborate speech, eliciting the warmest eulogy both from Lord Salisbury and Lord Granville. The Times praises it for its sudied moderation, lucidity of exposition, breadth of treatment, and brilliancy and variety of illustration. Lord Rosebery offered the United States Senate as an example for imitation, describing it as the most powerful and efficient second chamber existing, and urged the Lords to enlarge the constitution of their House, so as to include representatives of science, literature, art, commerce, the labouring classes, India, and the colonies. The motion was ultimately rejected.—N. Y. Tribune.

Paris Horse-Cars.

An amusing feature of Paris to a foreigner is the horse-cars. The appearance of the car driver and the conductor would almost assure one that they had been imported from America; but certain rules to be observed in running the cars very quickly remind him that he is in France. The cars are allowed to carry only a certain number of passengers—ten standing on the foot platform, ten on the rear platform, and as many in the car as are allowed to have seats. Those inside pay 5 centimes (10 cents), and those outside 25 centimes. When a car has its complement the gates are shut, a sign is hung out reading "complet," and no one can enter. During the busy time of the day, between 5 and 6 o'clock, when crowds are waiting for a car, it is necessary to apply at the office for a numbered ticket.

For instance, say you applied and received No. 21. You wait for a car, and the driver, when ready, commences to call une, deux, trois, and so on until he reaches your number, when you must be ready to enter; if not, you must procure another ticket and wait your turn again. The system has its advantages as well as its disadvantages, and the French think it a great thing; but the amusing part of it to foreigners is the calling of the numbers, and unless one is pretty well up in French he is very apt to get left, and has to go and get another.

Instead of ringing a bell like our conductor, they use a kind of horn, which is attached to the dash-board and blown by a rubber ball, which the driver presses. The sound, which is not unlike that of a cow-horn, can be heard distinctly for a block. It is not objectionable, unless the instrument happens to be out of order, and then it is very unmusical. The cars are a great convenience, and are very liberally patronized. One sees in them the economy of the French people as a class, very finely dressed ladies standing on the platform to save five cents. Economy is observable everywhere in France, and there is much truth in the aphorism that "the people could live on what the Americans waste."—Corr. Chicago Tribune.

The Man Without a Face.

There is to be seen at Landrecies, in the Department of the North, an invalid artillery soldier, who was wounded in the late Franco-German war, when he was horribly mutilated by the bursting of a Prussian shell. The man's face was literally blown off, including both eyes, there being left behind some scanty remnants of osseous and muscular systems. The skull, which is well covered with hair, was left intact, so that the man had a most hideous and ghastly appearance. This disfigurement has been completely concealed by a mask, which was made for him under the direction of the principal medical officer of Val de Grace, in Paris, whither he had been transferred from the field ambulance. The mask was constructed by a surgeon-dentist named Delalain. It includes a false palate and a complete set of false teeth; and it is so perfect that the functions of respiration and mastication, which were necessarily imperfectly performed, are almost completely restored to their normal condition, and the voice, which was rather husky, has resumed its natural tone. The man speaks distinctly, the sense of smell, which had entirely disappeared, has returned, and he can even play the flute. He wears two false eyes, simply to fill up the cavities of the orbets, for the parts representing the eyes in the mask are closed. In fact, the mask is so well adapted to what remains of the real face to be considered one of the finest specimens of the prothetic art that could be devised.—London Globe.

THE following incident is told us of the Duke of Buccleuch, who recently died in England. Not very long ago, while travelling with the Duke of Northumberland, they found themselves in a carriage with a commercial traveller. The conversation between the three soon became general. At Alnwick station the Duke of Northumberland got out and was driven away in a showy equipment. "That must be a swell," said the commercial traveller, "do you know who he is?" "He is the Duke of Northumberland," replied his grace of Buccleuch. "And yet they say they our nobility is haughty! Why, he talked to us two snobs as though we had been his pals!"

☞ The attention of intending Assurers is called to the advantages specially offered by this Association.

THIS ASSOCIATION MERITS THE CONFIDENCE THAT THE PUBLIC IS REPOSING IN IT FROM THE FOLLOWING FACTS:

The Security offered to Policy-holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada

It has no schemes of Deposit, but the well established lines, hence the Policy-holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.

Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its cash statement showing every item of income and how expended.

Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.

Its progress has been unexampled in the history of insurance in Canada.

Its policies are indisputable after three years and non forfeitable after two years' existence.

Its profits are distributed upon an equitable basis. The profits to one class of policy-holders are not lessened to give larger profits to any other class, which method affords superior advantages over the uniform bonus plan of distribution.

☞ Liberal conditions as to residence and travel.
